

Secrets of Mathematical Storytelling

Date: March 17, 2021
3:45 to 5:15 p.m.

Location
Online

Audience
Teachers, Coaches, and Administrators

Grade Levels
TK-8

Cost
Free*

Registration
<http://bit.ly/39rxvVC>

Content Contact
Kirsten Sarginger
408-453-4351 or
ksarginger@sccoe.org

Registration Contact
Teri Brickey
408-453-6688 or
tbrickey@sccoe.org

Students love stories in their personal lives, both consuming them and producing them. Stories are also great for learning, the square peg for our brain's square hole; a "privileged medium" according to cognitive psychologist Daniel Willingham. We can restructure our students' learning experiences around stories as well. Come learn the secrets of storytelling and how they can be used in the mathematics classroom.

Presented by Dan Meyer,
Chief Academic Office of Demos;
Creator Three Act Tasks

*Funding provided by the Silicon Valley Community Foundation.