

2026-2027 Parent Engagement Program Parent Leadership Ambassador Training

This training is designed for parent leaders to learn about a family engagement strategy that supports academic learning for students, then replicate and facilitate that strategy in their own learning community.

Participants will:

- learn about the components of an interactive read aloud and how that supports literacy development
- learn about effective and conversational questions to integrate into book clubs to develop reading comprehension
- recognize alignment of common core standards to support academic enrichment activities for families
- prepare to present and facilitate a literacy event at their school site or community organization
- receive learning materials during the training
- learn how to bring an interactive read aloud or family book club to your school or community organization!

Literacy Training – Interactive Read Aloud and Book Clubs

This program is being promoted in partnership with Silicon Valley Reads. For parent leaders who implement an interactive read aloud or family book club in their school or community, a stipend is available.
