

Community Schools Fundamentals Workshop

A whole child, whole-community approach to learning.

Community schools leverage the resources of the whole community—students, families, educators, and community partners—to build relationship-centered, supportive, and equitable school communities where learning is culturally-rooted, inclusive, rigorous, and relevant.

The Santa Clara County Office of Education, California Community Schools Learning Exchange, and the National Center for Community Schools are proud to announce that registration is now open for the California-based Fundamentals Workshops. This is an in-person learning and networking opportunity designed specifically for California County Offices of Education, district, school, and community partner teams—especially those that have received planning or implementation grants or are interested in applying for the $4,000,000,000 in state and/or federal community school funding in California.

These sessions are designed to help you and your teams:

- Use common language about what community schools are all about and what it takes for sustainable success;
- Identify your community school muscles, local strengths, gaps, and opportunities;
- Get tools and guidance on how to think about getting started, including leadership and engagement, creating a powerful team, community school coordinator(s), and forging strategic partnerships;
- Build a shared understanding of how the CCSPP funds can strengthen your existing school/district/county priorities.
